Who is Sifu Brand?

Sifu Brand has fully integrated a lifetime of research and study of the martial arts into the unique IAW WingChun® system. Not only has he analyzed the logic and approach of many styles, but has realized their specific weaknesses and deficiencies when applied to actual Self-Defense. The result is a practical series of coordinated Programs organized within a clear Curriculum. His effective teaching methodologies allow for anyone, through diligent effort and patient interest, to consistently achieve the consummate skill he embodies.

What about costs?

Everything of value has a price. We encourage you to compare the quality of what we offer. Plus, Sifu Brand comes over here to you. A trip to Germany might cost you double the entire Fall Event Series total. Instead, the IAW-US affords you access to the very highest quality of Self-Defense education available worldwide. Furthermore, once instilled, your skills and knowledge are something no one can take away from you. Invest in improving yourself.

What is your goal?

Having such hands-on interaction with Sifu Brand as a guide for your WingChun progress is the greatest motivation you can receive. When you can directly experience – see, hear, feel – the art you practice from its most accomplished artist and practitioner, it will change your whole perspective. Thus, your personal appreciation for and overall understanding of what WingChun® is will undoubtedly broaden and deepen.

What is your plan?

Maximize these rare opportunities by participating the most you can. Listen as carefully as you are able to. Ask as many questions as you can think of. Absorb as much knowledge as possible. All your questions are welcome and will be answered.
